SHIELD

Volume XVI

Smithfield High School

Smithfield, North Carolina

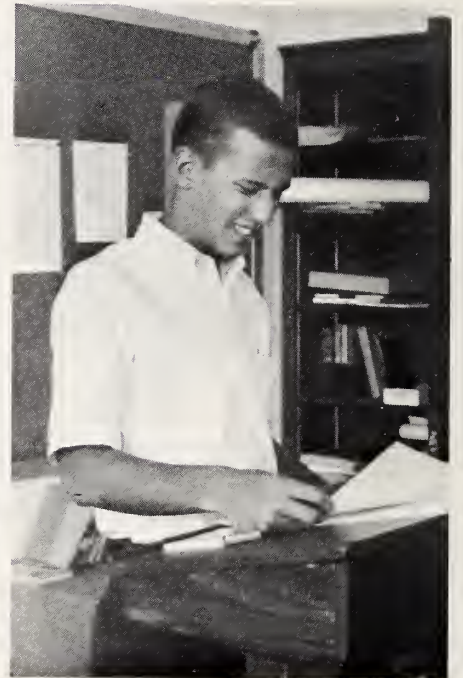

Co-Editors Van Denning and Wingate Lassiter

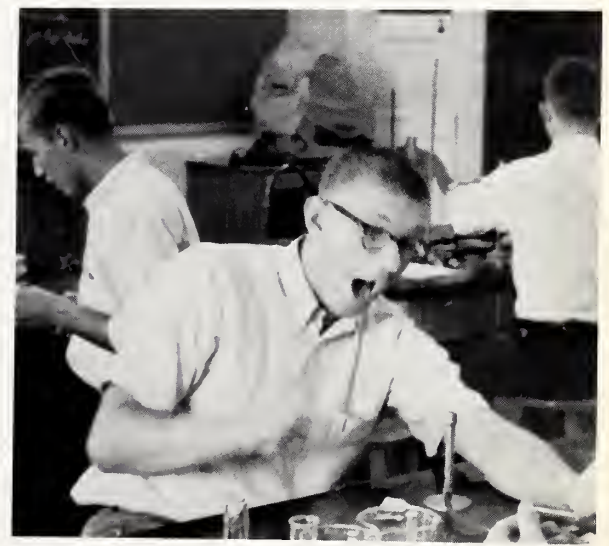

Foreword

We awoke on school mornings to find a new day of challenges with hope that everything would turn out all right. The day moved along and, by sixth period, hearts were light and cares were forgotten.

We lived for weekends and counted the days until a holiday. We let off steam at football and basketball games, at the parish house, and during lunch period. Not a single day passed without foolishness from someone. These happy times were necessary, because we had our share of anxiety and tension. But we were always optimistic.

We have produced this, the 1965 Shield, to offer only a hint of our hardships and to present tangible evidence that we had "the time of our lives!"

JACKSON HOWARD TEMPLE

DEDICATION

On the main floor of Smithfield High School, in a crowded little classroom, there teaches a smiling, youthful bachelor. But this man's vitality extends beyond this crowded, little classroom into the lives of all Smithfield High students.

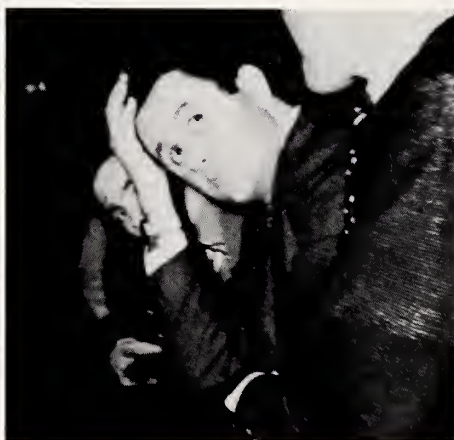

From the instruction of growing minds to the direction of athletic participation he continually injects his beaming personality and his vigor into everything he undertakes. He is the patient teacher of Freshman English, the diligent coach of varsity boys' basketball and junior varsity football—a faithful supporter of all school activities.

His popularity can clearly be seen in kiddish nicknames like "Peaches" and "Smilin' Jack" which the students bestow upon him. He is "Coach Temple," the friend.

We dedicate the 1965 Shield to Mr. Jack Temple.

ADMINISTRATION and FACULTY

MR. A. G. GLENN, Principal

If there is a tireless man in our community, it must be the principal of Smithfield High School. His devotion to youth is unfailing and inexhaustible.

It can truly be said that this man's relationship to his students reaches far beyond that of an ordinary principal. As a public servant, his time is spent enriching the lives of our future leaders.

Mr. Glenn has literally given his life for the school. This, many of the students take for granted. We would not realize the extent of his work unless it were to stop.

This is the man responsible for our wonderful environment of learning, of fellowship, and of opportunity. He is Mr. Glenn, the man that directs Smithfield High School.

MRS. C. W. TARLTON, Secretary

Any administrative enterprise requires the diligent work of a secretary. Mrs. Tarlton is an invaluable asset in Mr. Glenn's administrative duties.

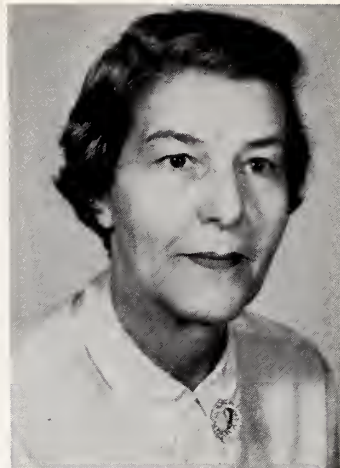

MRS. JOHN T. MASSEY

Able to help in many ways, Mrs. Massey is always "on the job."

CLASSES

We Came, We Saw,

Left: In November seniors swarmed the libraries to acquire information for research papers which they had to write. Here Mrs. Glenn, senior English teacher, gives constructive criticism to Carolyn Hartley.

We Learned . . .

Right: Hard at work, Mrs. Peele prepares another French poem for her students. Such poems and writings about France developed a taste for French culture.

Left: Mr. Woodard resorts to sign language to teach his foreign language classes. Nevertheless, they still say: "It's all Latin to me!"

Right: Freshman boys are intrigued by the language of algebra. Mr. Creech gives beginners in algebra a solid foundation for their advancement in mathematics.

Left: Mr. Brown and several of his geography students pose before a world map. It looks as if he's found a rather interesting spot somewhere in India.

Right: Students of a sophomore world history class prepare to "be-head" a helpless "nobleman," just as in the days of France's Reign of Terror. Miss Turner, a new edition to the high school faculty, makes sure that the first blow will be on target.

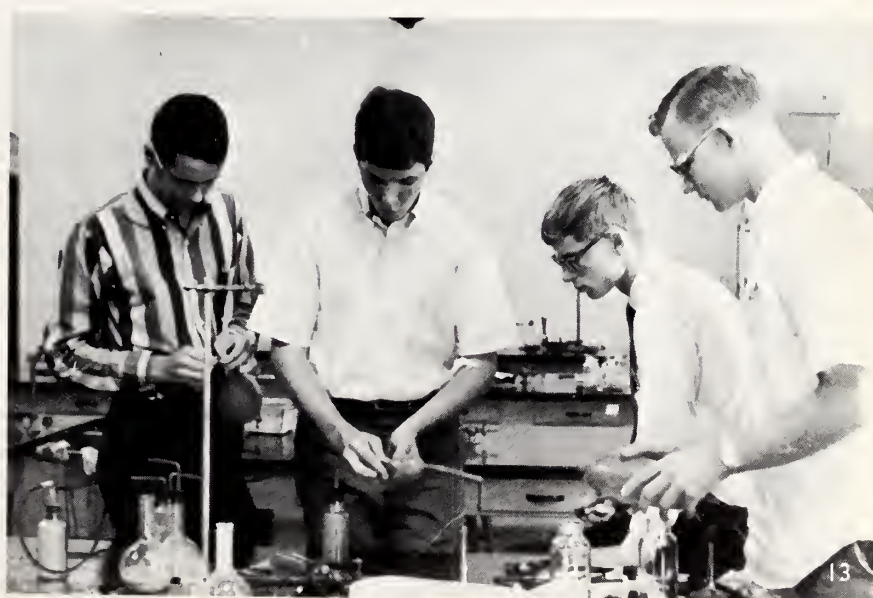

Left: Mr. Wiggs had a lot of questions to answer as freshman general science students went to the lab for the first time. The laboratory is used by all the science courses for helpful and interesting experimentation.

Right: A cubbyhole of an art room is the environment that inspires the SHS artists. The walls are always covered with "originals" and the room could pass as an art museum.

Left: These curious students observe the monstrous-looking grasshopper. Mrs. Barbour's classes were always full of interesting discussions for biology enthusiasts.

Right: Senior chemistry students made hydrogen balloons which caused quite a bit of commotion around the school. It seems that some got loose and rose to the ceilings where they remained as colorful classroom decorations.

Left: Mrs. Frances Creech, typing instructor, shows novice Joe Morgan how to correctly place paper into the complicated machine.

Right: Freshman girls "keep in shape" during phys-ed classes. Many skills such as grace and poise are developed through vigorous exercise (as shown here).

Seniors Study? Unbelievable!

Senior Class Officers: Gary Mayenschein, Vice-President; Judy Corbett, Treasurer; Rudy Strickland, President of Student Body; Aldert Edmonson, President; Anna Ratcliffe, Secretary.

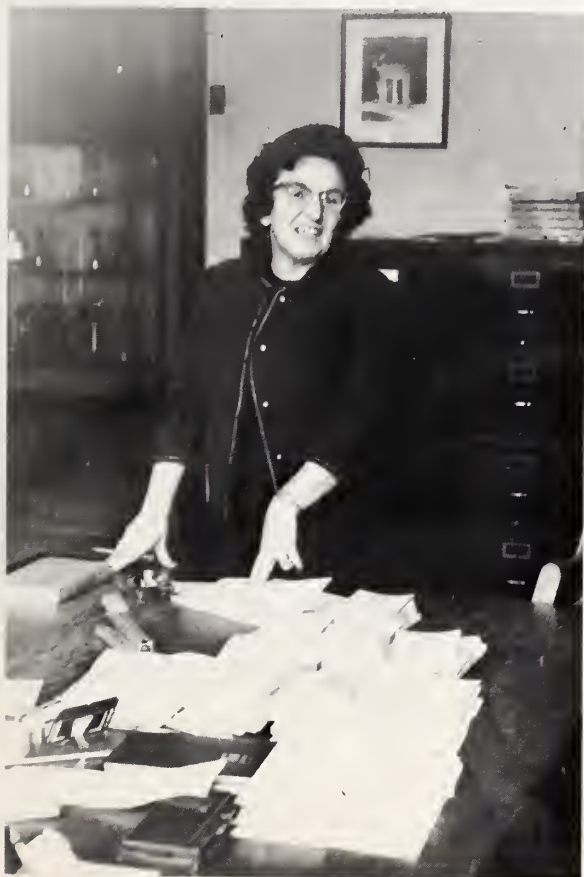

These seniors study too, but they apply their talents in another field. Through the diligent work of Miss Flora Canaday, these two senior musicians, Mary Lillie Talton and David Upton, have become outstanding amateur pianists.

People of Merit and Service

Left: The school bus drivers perform probably the most hazardous service for the students, yet their record of safety stands unmarred.

Below: Incessantly flooded with paper work, Mrs. Alice Avery as guidance counselor concerns herself with the future of the senior class after graduation.

Above: This year's Betty Crocker Homemaking award winner was senior Jenny Talton. Jenny was also very active in F.H.A., serving as a national officer.

Successful Sophomore Magazine Saleswomen

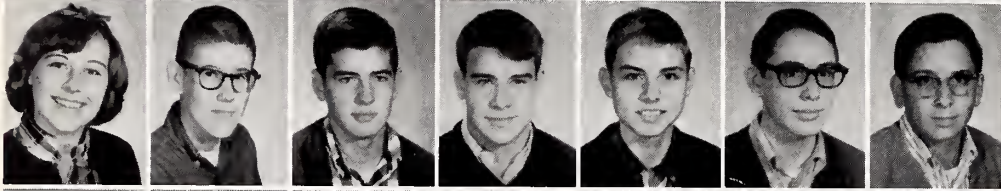

It is traditional at Smithfield High School for the sophomore class to raise money for the school each year by selling magazine subscriptions. Every year the campaign is more profitable than ever. ACTIVITIES

1964 JUNIOR-SENIOR:

They said it couldn't be done. The challenge of building panoramic scenery, perfecting an entertaining program, and living up to the demands of the seniors was too great for us. But little did they realize that "challenge" was the magic word, that "challenge" was the one force that would produce success.

We all worked. We all played. And we enjoyed doing both. The result? Well, you can see from these pages that everything turned out Oklahoma O.K.!

These five hombres sing of their predicament in the "Oklahoma Jail," but what are they doing out front!

Mary Lillie Talton proclaims to the world that "you can't get a man with a gun," especially when the gun is aimed backwards over your shoulder.

OKLAHOMA O.K.!

Susan Barnes, adorned in a typical nineteenth-century outfit, disgustingly sings: "I'm just a girl who cain't say 'no'!"

These little doggies, trained by Mrs. Lizzie Walker Wells, waggled onto the stage and into the hearts of the seniors.

FRESHMEN HAVE THEIR MOMENT

The eve of October 10, 1964, brought the new year's high school class together for the first time. Everyone then realized that school-days were here again.

The Class of '68 was officially welcomed at the gym with the traditional "green" theme: green bows for the freshmen ladies and green boutonnieres for the freshmen gentlemen. The seniors got their first taste of responsibility as upper classmen, and responded with true entertainment.

How surprised we were to find that "those high and mighty seniors" aren't so almighty after all, but actually have a curious envy and respect for "those little green freshmen."

"Mommy, I can't breathe!" Anna Ratcliffe mimics contemporary television commercials.

Pursued by all the young ladies, Coach Temple was the "hit of the party."

Some singing seniors sing a soothing song.

MUSICAL COMEDY GIGANTIC SUCCESS

On Friday night, November 18, 1964, an amazed audience witnessed an outstanding production on the Smithfield High School stage. A cast of seventy juniors and seniors reproduced the Broadway hit musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," and the amateur performance became the talk of the town. Never before had so many enjoyed a high school play so much.

Success through hard work is surely an outstanding quality of Smithfield High. "Annie Get Your Gun" was just further proof.

Buffalo Bill (Bobby Ray, center) and Pawnee Bill (Charlie Mercer) negotiate the merger of their two wild west shows. Observing the deal are Buffalo Bill's manager (Billy Barnes), an assistant (Robert Davis) and Chief Sitting Bull (Billy Oliver).

Co-Stars Terry Knott and Van Denning

"How muchum you want off top?" asks an Indian (Kay Carroll), threatening Dolly Davenport (Karen Johnson). Meanwhile, Dolly's brother, Charlie, (Billy Barnes), suddenly sees that the jig is up, and so is the wig!

Annie's brother (Aldert Edmonson) and sisters (Toni Black and Susan Barnes) explain to Mr. Wilson, a hotel proprietor (Ray Hinnant) how they get along "Doing What Comes Naturally."

Homecoming '64

Wednesday's chapel, with the choosing of the court, lit the fuse which was to explode in an outburst of happy spirits and renewed confidence that Smithfield would triumph over Benson. Thursday night we went to the Recreation Park where, standing around a blazing fire, everyone was given a chance to shout at the top of his lungs, and most everyone did!

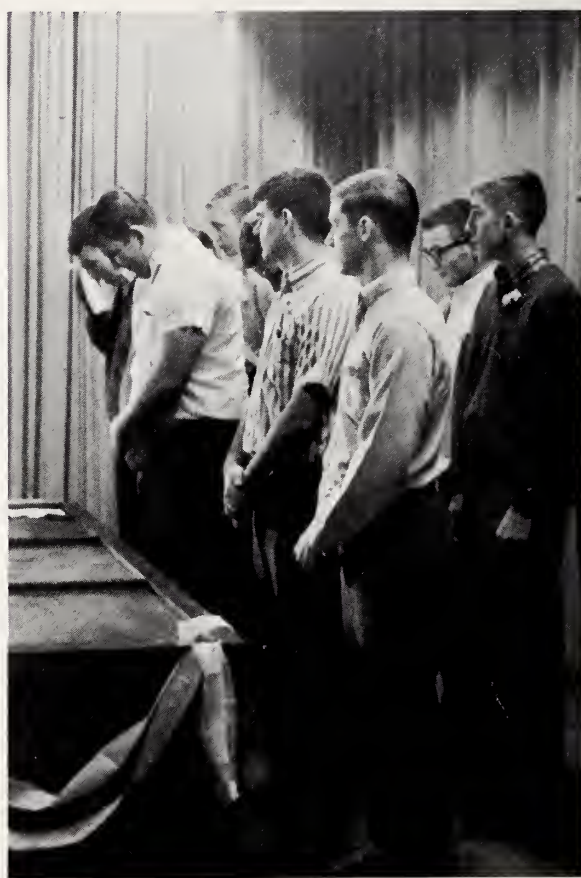

Friday night revealed once again that "Smithfield is Tops" as we rolled to a 38-7 victory over the Phantoms. The dance Saturday night proved to be the end of a perfect Homecoming, as everyone danced to his heart's content.

The 1964 Homecoming Queen: Miss Anna Ratcliffe.

The Benson Blue Phantom was outmanned!

A tear is shed. Boo-hoo!

Coach Brown (Sylvia Hamilton) is interviewed in homecoming chapel by the Smithfield Bugle's hot-line reporter (Barbara Poteat).

BAND: PLEASURE FOUND IN MUSIC

MR. LEE ROGERS
A.B., M.A.
East Carolina College
Band Director

Part of the rich tradition of Smithfield High School is the band—an organization attracting the talented, the ambitious, and the appreciators of true music.

Since Mr. Lee Rogers began to build the band at Smithfield over a decade ago, the music department has grown amazingly. For this school year the county purchased an old house across the street from the school campus solely to accommodate the expanding band organization. Opportunities for high schoolers now include the senior band, the dance band, and a "pep" band which plays at basketball games on occasion.

Highlights of '64-'65 included a weekend in Sanford at a tri-county band festival, and a day in New Bern for the Shriner's Parade. Of course there were the traditional concerts and chapel programs, too.

But band members got their most enjoyment during fourth period—when they found adventures in compositions that never reached the public's ears but thrilled the participating musician as he produced sounds: his own sounds.

CLUB

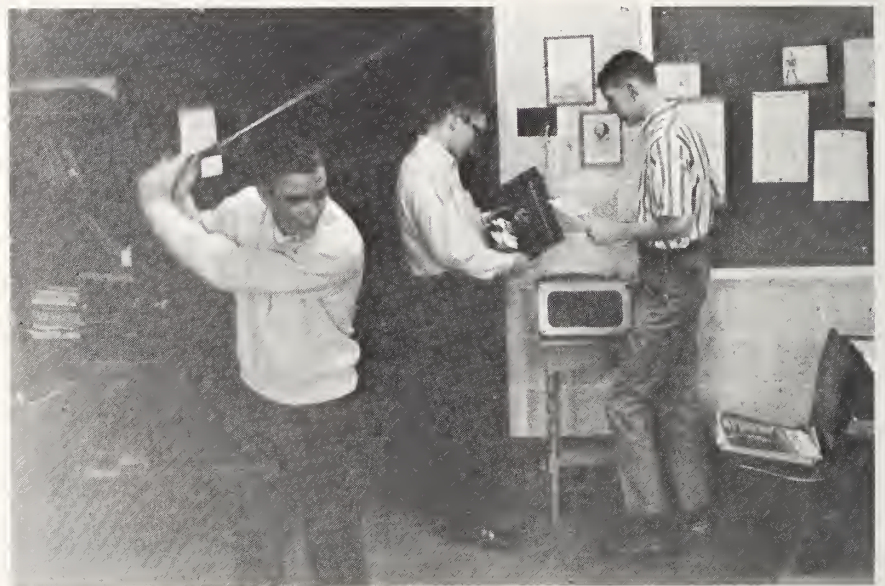

ORGANIZATIONS: CULTIVATORS OF INTEREST

Left: Many high school girls have a profound interest in future homemaking. These are just a few of the F.H.A. members who want tomorrow's home to be the best home possible.

Left: Others have interest in office work, such as filing and bookkeeping. These are just a few of the high school library workers who not only gain valuable experience, but also perform invaluable service.

THE STUDENTS ARE KEPT INFORMED

MRS. RUTH BURNETTE
Advisor

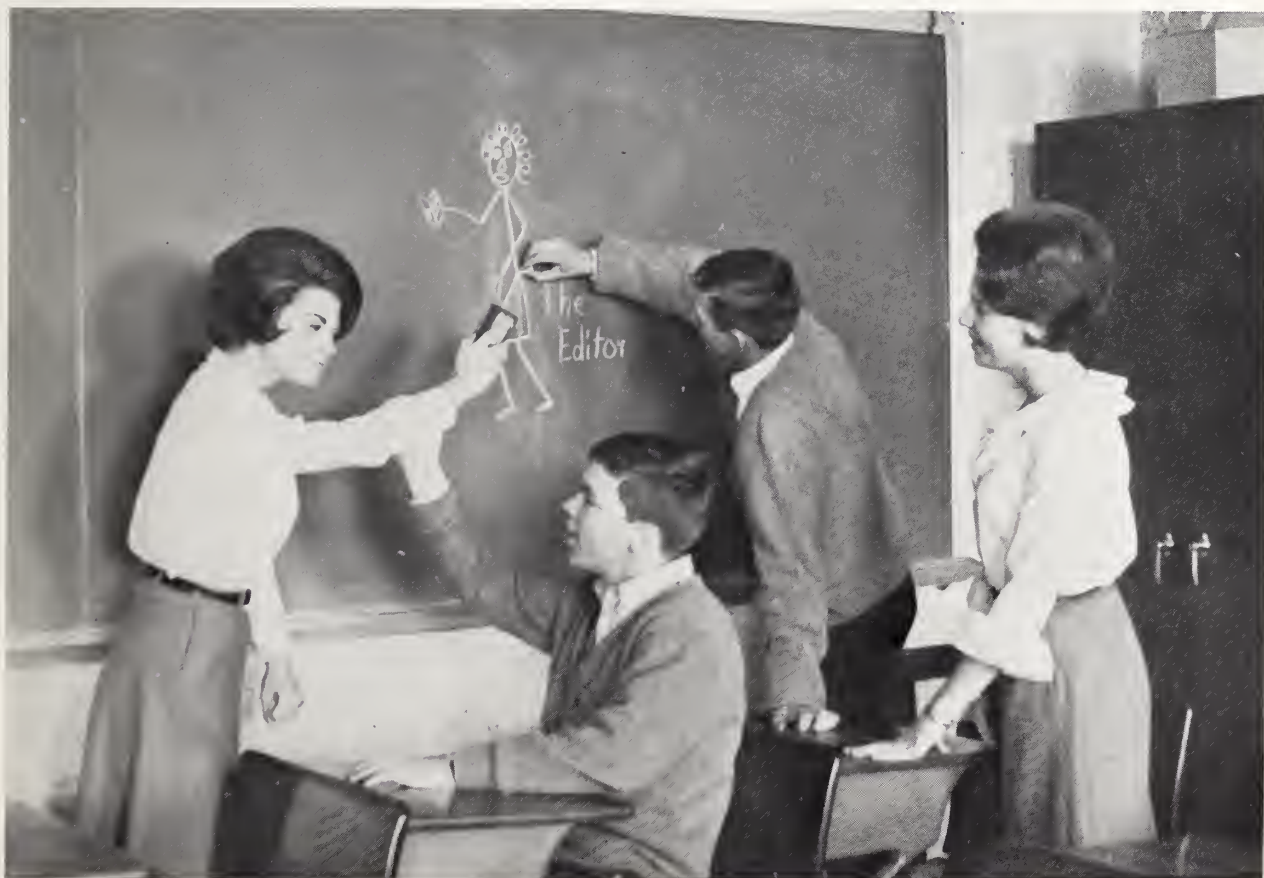

There are two items that students of Smithfield High receive periodically in their homerooms after sixth period. One is the dreaded report card and the other is The Smithfield High Times.

The High Times is the school newspaper, reflecting the life and thought of the students because its articles are written by the students themselves. So we have a democratic school paper; but who are the ones responsible for its organization? The editor, her staff, the faculty advisor, and the Journalism Club head the list.

Although the High Times, when printed, hardly resembles the conventional newspaper, the quality of its contents has brought praise from many readers. Just as The New York Times keeps the people informed about important world affairs, The Smithfield High Times keeps the students informed about important school affairs.

JUDY CORBETT
Editor

FIRST LADY VISITS JOHNSTON

Lynda Bird Johnson, Lady Bird Johnson, and Congressman Harold Cooley were among the dignitaries present.

Mrs. Lyndon Baines Johnson, wife of the President of the United States, thrilled Johnstonians on October 6, 1964 when she and her elder daughter, Lynda Bird, came to Selma as part of a whistle stop tour of the South. The train, called the "Lady Bird Special," was the First Lady's part in 1964 Presidential campaign which resulted in President Johnson's re-election.

The glamour that accompanied the visit of the political celebrities was an eye-fearer for people of this area, especially for the teen-agers! The Secret Service in action, the radio, TV, press personnel from all the big networks and magazines, and the spirit of the crowd transformed a quiet spot in Johnston County into a focal point of the nation . . .

Charlie Mercer, N.C. Teen-Democratic Club President, had the honor of riding the "Lady Bird Special" from Wilson to Selma. Here he leaves the train after talking with Mrs. Johnson.

Debra Lawson, Kathy Hildebrand, and Ann Jones were just three of the many local Teen-Dem members who participated in the gala welcoming festivities.

ATHLETICS

Hark! The Sound of Cheering Voices!

MARY LILLIE TALTON
Head Cheerleader

Hark! the sound of cheering voices,
Ringing loud and clear;
Always urging on the Devils:
Smithfield High School, dear.
As the teams fought long and hard
They were cheering there,
Shouting out their chants and phrases,
With the students there.

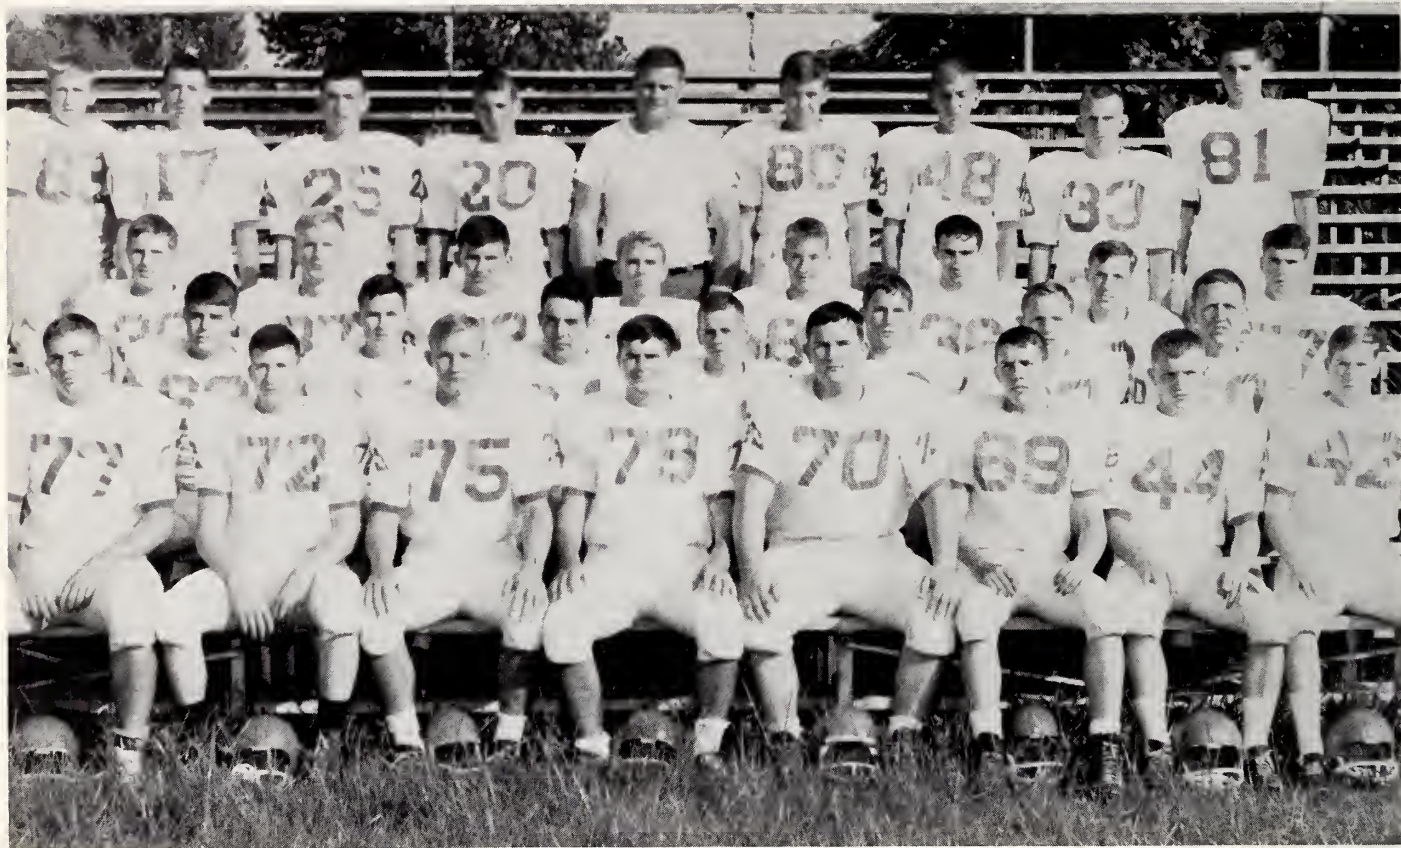

They led the pep rallies.

RUGGED DEVILS BRING WOE TO FOES

The 1964 chapter of Smithfield High School football is another cheerful-reading story. Relying on good, hard-nosed football, these gridiron men won seven games, tied one, and lost two to top teams in the tough Capital Area Conference.

Defense became frequently used in conversation about the Red Devils around town. But to this rugged defense the Devils added a very strong running attack that could literally run the opposition into the ground . . .

Devil Defense: Suppressive, Impressive

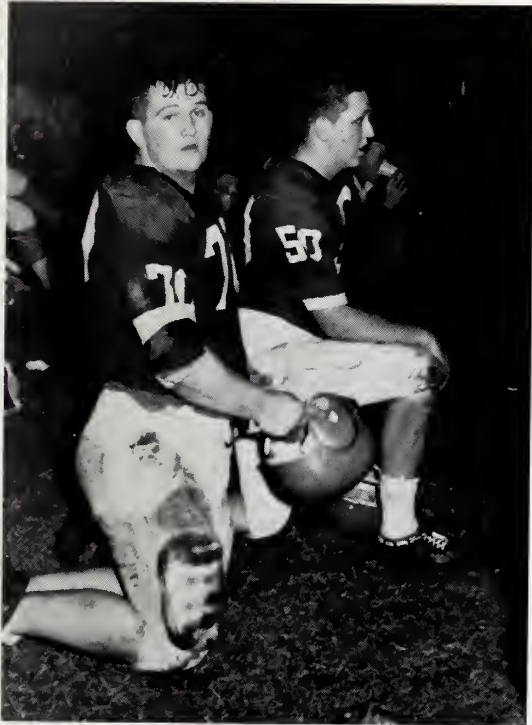

Dan Allen and Bill Jordan move in for the kill.

A poor Selma player is caught in the deadly vise of Johnny Ward and Dan Allen.

Below: This Millbrook runner was lucky! Only three Red Devils got him, but Smithfield Reinforcements were on the way.

Smithfield linemen Ralph Hall and Alfred Moore take a breather from their dirty work.

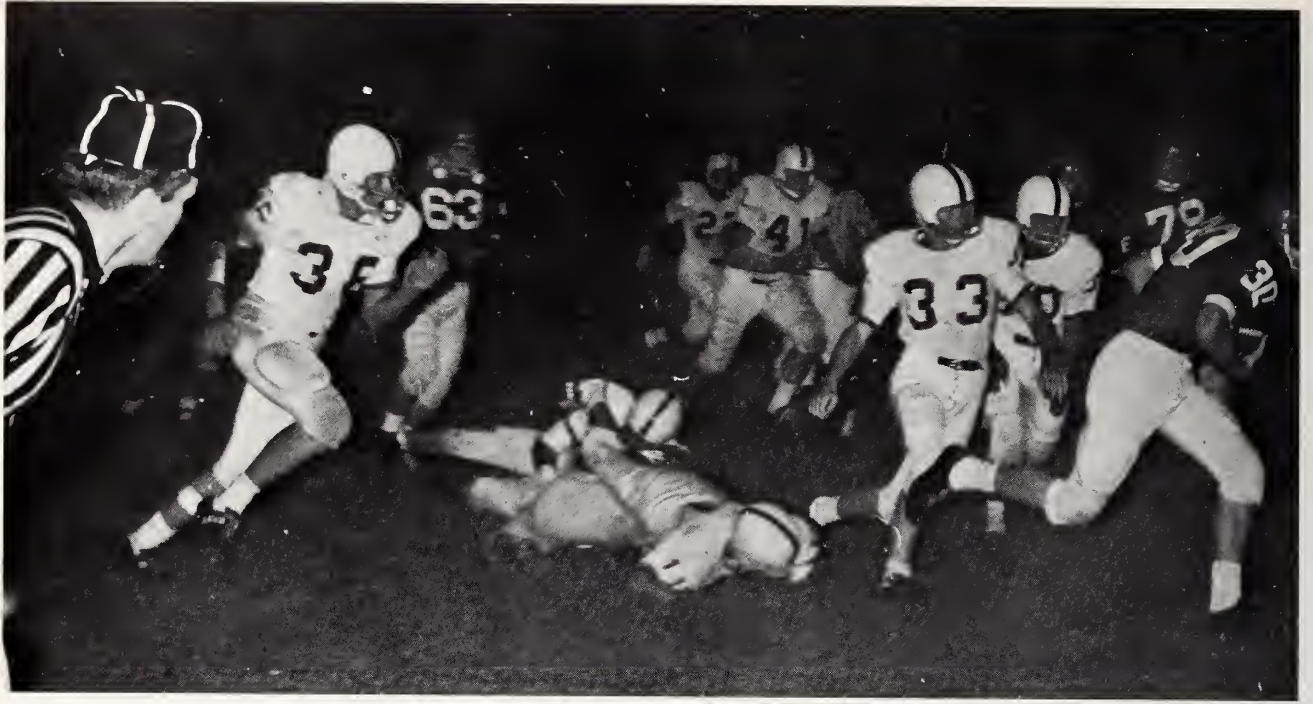

A Benson pursuer grabs desperately to halt Quarterback Donald Vernon's breakaway scamper.

Bill Jordan gallops 87 yards for a TD on the first play from scrimmage against Selma. Jordan alone gained 200 yards rushing that night.

WHAT A TEAM WE HAD!

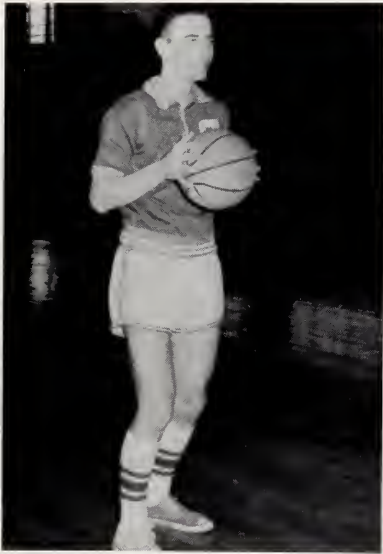

Oh, what a team we had this year! The first game we won by 41 points, and before Christmas vacation we "broke a hundred" in the Fuquay game.

But—by the end of the season we were in third place with a 16-6 record. Why the choke? Because Cary and Garner were all-powerful again, although we did beat Cary in the second game of the season.

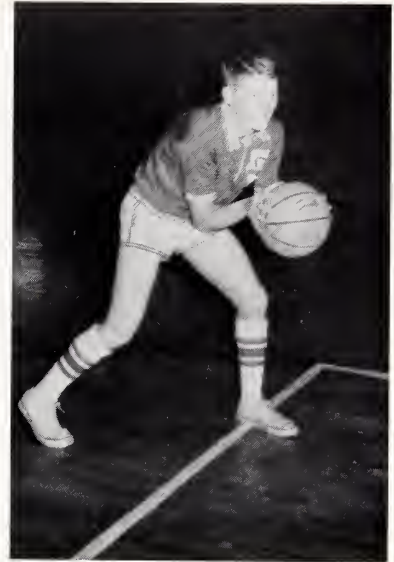

Our goal this year was high: State Champs! But disappointment was riding with us. The season abruptly ended in the tournament semi-finals: Cary 32, Smithfield 28.

Oh Well! maybe next year!

TRACK '64

The Smithfield cindermen gave a good account of themselves as they worked their way to an undefeated season. Through hard work and determination they kept high the Smithfield colors, not only in the conference standings, but also in the district meet at Raleigh. The season was highlighted by the outstanding performance of John Gleason, the cindermen's high-jumping specialist. John not only broke the school's high-jump record but went on to place first in the district meet.

With all this evidence, it can surely be said that "winning" and "Smithfield" are synonymous.

1964 BASEBALL

Coach Virgil Payne reviews game strategy to his team before an encounter on the Smithfield Recreation Park diamond. Mr. Payne participated vigorously in the school athletic program during his first year at Smithfield High. The energetic coach found pleasure and pride in pitching batting practice daily, and his arm never failed him once.

Blue skies and mild temperatures put baseball into the athletic limelight. Smithfield's 1964 squad enjoyed playing ball and played well, although its record was 6-4, far from spectacular. However, the Devil batsmen were always "in the game" and further glorified the Smithfield tradition of "Never give up!"

The highlight of the '64 season came when Earl Ward pitched a no-hitter against Fuquay.

All-conference selections from the squad were Bill Jordan, Billy Flowers, and Jerry Edwards.
